1 Introduction

This document describes the installation and compatibility of Hotfix-48782 for Chromeleon 7.2.8, which resolves an issue which can cause the Chromeleon Console to incorrectly report 'License server unavailable'.

Two different issues were found to result in this error message being incorrectly displayed on a Chromeleon client. Both issues are resolved by this hotfix.

2 Resolved Issues

ID	Description
46797	Licensing: In an Enterprise environment, occasionally a client system would incorrectly think that the software license has expired.
48782	Licensing: In an Enterprise environment, occasionally a client system would incorrectly report that the license server was unavailable.

3.3 Installation Instructions for Thermo Scientific 247 Instrument Controller

This section describes the process for installing this hotfix on a Thermo Scientific 247 Instrument Controller running Windows Embedded Standard 7 (WES7) firmware. For installation instructions for a Chromeleon Domain Controller, Chromeleon Data Vault Server, Chromeleon Client, Chromeleon IPC or Chromeleon Workstation refer to section 3.2.

3.3.1 Windows Embedded Standard 7

The security model of the Windows Embedded Standard 7 (WES7) firmware prevents unauthorised software installation on the 247 Instrument Controller. In order to install Hotfix-48782 for Chromeleon 7.2.8 onto a WES7 247 Instrument Controller, an installation utility is provided.

The following steps can be performed remotely using Windows Remote Desktop, or directly on the 247 IC by connecting a monitor, mouse and keyboard. If using Remote Desktop, you will need to reconnect to the 247 IC following each reboot.

3.3.1.1 Prerequisites for WES7 247 IC

Prior to installation, make sure you have the following:

- Windows Embedded Standard 7 (WES7) firmware TDS 5.33a with Chromeleon 7.2.8 pre-installed
- Chromeleon Post-installation step has been run and the 247 IC is connected to a Chromeleon Domain
- 247 IC is logged in with an account with local administrative privileges
- 247PatchUtility_Hotfix_48782_CM7.2.8.exe

3.3.1.2 Hotfix Installation for WES7 247 IC

1. Ensure the prerequisites above have been met.
2. Copy the 247PatchUtility executable to the following folder on the 247 Instrument Controller
C:\Windows\Temp
3. Right-click on the executable and select the “Run as Administrator” option.
4. A Command window will appear, the files will be extracted for installation, and the 247IC will reboot.
5. Following reboot, log into the 247 IC using an account with local Administrator privileges. Immediately upon log in, the installation process will automatically continue.
6. A Command window will appear which will wait for Chromeleon services to timeout, stop all Chromeleon services, install the files, and then automatically reboot the 247 IC again. During this stage, you may briefly see some “service” error messages in the command window. These are an expected part of the installation process. No user input is required during this stage.
7. Following this second reboot, log into the 247 IC using an account with local Administrator privileges.
8. The 247 IC will automatically complete the installation process and will perform a final reboot. During this stage you might not see any activity on screen between logging in and the reboot.
9. Following this third reboot, log into the 247 IC using an account with local Administrator privileges.
10. The installation has now completed.
11. Browse to the folder where the patch utility was copied in step 2.
12. Double-click on 247HotfixLog. In the “Windows can’t open this file” dialog, choose the “Select a program from a list of installed programs” option and click OK.
13. In the “Open with” dialog, click the Browse button and browse to C:\Windows\System32\notepad.exe. Click OK to open the log file in Notepad.
14. Scroll to the bottom of the log file and confirm that all three phases of the installation were run by locating the Phase3 section of the log.

3.3.1.3 Verification for WES7 247 IC

1. Perform a Chromeleon Station IQ:
(Start Menu) > All Programs > Thermo Chromeleon 7 > Station IQ > Station IQ
2. The report will show a total of 85 errors and 0 warnings.

State	Errors	Warnings	Comment
Before Hotfix	81	0	Please refer to Appendix A for a list of the expected errors
After Hotfix	85	0	In addition to the 81 errors reported above before the hotfix is installed, there will be 4 additional errors as described below.  Please verify that the 'actual' fingerprints match the values below:

Errors
C:\Program Files (x86)\Thermo\Chromeleon\bin\Dionex.AdminServices.dll: The expected value of 'Fingerprint' is '94EB639404D0CC44' but actually is '96E76ED3DA1C9135'.
C:\Program Files (x86)\Thermo\Chromeleon\bin\Dionex.Chromeleon.Common.dll: The expected value of 'Fingerprint' is '01EE648CDF1CB2FE' but actually is '8A5A7E35725009DB'.
C:\Program Files (x86)\Thermo\Chromeleon\bin\log4net.config: The expected value of 'Fingerprint' is 'B7F4586C109CAEAD' but actually is '15495B5BF6FA55BE'.

Appendix A: IQ report for WES7 247 Instrument Controller

The 247 Instrument Controller is designed to be used without user interaction so the installation of Chromeleon on the WES7 247 IC has been pre-configured to remove unnecessary files and services. Consequently, when the Station IQ is run, the report contains Errors and Warnings which are expected and do not constitute a failed installation. The following table lists the expected Errors and Warnings which will be found in the IQ report of a 247 IC with WES7 firmware and Chromeleon 7.2.8 before installation of the hotfix.
